President Roosevelt says we have no designs on Cuba. However, after we get through intervening with her this time she had better not do it again.

A lecturer says: "If you are a politician you will never get an office by lying around the house." Sure, Mike. He must get out and do his lying on the stump.

The reason the wife of a politician doesn't like to have her husband's friends sitting around in the parlor is because they smoke the kind of cigars her husband hands around.

If we could have "intervention" every time there is a fraudulent election in the United States, there are a lot of office holders who would have to do the Palma act—take the train for home.

The New York State Republican convention declared for tariff revision "as occasion may require." We have always noticed, however, that when "occasion" gets among a lot of Republicans it is made to keep quiet about its requirements.

A Western man named Gourdain, a few months ago, was running all over the country insisting on serving a term in the penitentiary. He has now started a bank, from which we infer that he is now in a fair way to get into the penitentiary if the law is enforced.

The Raleigh Evening Times acted wisely and with perfect fairness to its subscribers in advancing its price from $4.00 to $5.00. The telegraphic service of The Associated Press costs the Times more than the total expenses of many of the small daily papers of the State. The Times is cheap at $5.00 a year.

Come to think of it, George B. Cortelyou, National Republican chairman, never has paid any attention to "aroused public sentiment" against contributions by corporations to campaign funds. The insurance companies which turned loose thousands of long green to elect Roosevelt haven't yet received any refund remittance.

HORNE DAMAGE SUIT

Evidence All in by Yestesday Noon and Argument to Jury Has Begun.

WILL BE COMPLETED TODAY

Frank Meier Case May Be Taken Up This Afternoon—Lawyers Limited to Three Hours on a Side by Judge Jones.

The Horne damage suit in which the Consolidated Company is the plaintiff will probably reach the jury in the Superior Court by to-day noon. All day yesterday was taken up with the completion of the testimony and argument by counsel to the jury, which will be concluded with two speeches this morning. At the outset Judge Jones limited the speeches to three hours on a side and about two hours of this yet remains. Iredell Meares, Esq., who was left with an hour and a quarter for a close for the company, had taken up 25 minutes of the time when the court took a recess for the day at 6 o'clock yesterday evening and Herbert McClammy, Esq., has an hour in which to close for the plaintiff Horne. Then will follow the charge of His Honor, Judge Jones, and the issues will be submitted.

The next case to be taken up will probably be Frank Meier, Admr. against the Consolidated Company in which heavy damages are asked for the killing of the plaintiff's brother about two years ago on the suburban line near Greenville station. Should that case be taken up, it will likely require the balance of the week for trial. Court took a recess at 6 o'clock yesterday evening until 9:15 o'clock this morning.

The Horne case was resumed yesterday with the introduction of additional witnesses for the defendant company, these having been Mr. C. S. Pridgen, formerly a lineman for the Southern Bell Telephone Company, and Mr. C. H. Thompson, a salesman at the time for E. N. Penny, near whose store the accident occurred.

For the defendant Messrs. T. S. McManus, manager of the telephone company; Mr. E. C. Yarbrough, a lineman for the telephone company, and B. M. Lehue, a policeman at that time. Horne, the plaintiff, was recalled to contradict certain testimony given in by other witnesses.

Col. Walker Taylor, City Clerk and Treasurer Fowler and others gave the plaintiff Horne an excellent character. With this testimony in, the argument began. Mr. George Rountree opening for the plaintiff in an able presentation, especially of the law, in a speech of a little more than an hour. Mr. Junius Davis made a remarkably fine presentation of the case for the Consolidated Company in an address of 45 minutes and was followed in a clear, concise statement of the facts and the law in behalf of the plaintiff by J. O. Carr, Esq. Robert Ruark, Esq., gave an excellent summary of the testimony and the law bearing on the facts in an address of 45 minutes. He was followed by Woodus Kellum, for the plaintiff, who made one of the best arguments of his career at the bar. Mr. Meares began his speech shortly before 6 o'clock and will complete the same upon the reassembling of court this morning.

CARGO OF 16,580 BALES.

Big Ship Anglo-Saxon Clears With Cotton for Bremen.

The big British steamer Anglo-Saxon cleared last night from the compresses of Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son with a cotton cargo of 16,580 bales, 8,425,997 pounds, valued at $885,000. It is not a record-breaking cargo so far as the number of bales is concerned, the same ship having carried 17,000 bales one season before, but in the number of pounds, the bales of this cargo being heavier, the ship has about as much of the fleecy staple below her hatches as was ever carried out of the port. Capt. George H. Moore is the clever master of the Anglo-Saxon and he will sail early this morning for Bremen, Germany. Several other ships, almost as large as the Anglo-Saxon, are now at the compress and will be sailing in a few days. It will be interesting to note the slight difference in the tonnage and the carrying capacity of the steamers.

HOMICIDE IN WAKE

Dairyman Dealt Death Blow to White Man Near Raleigh—Liability of Fraternal Orders to Insurance Tax—Charter Granted.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., October 3.—Charles Layton, superintendent of the Holding dairy farm, near Raleigh, fatally injured A. C. Mooneyham, a farm hand, this afternoon by striking him on the head with a shovel. There had been bad feeling between the two men several hours. Layton's two witnesses claim that Mooneyham was advancing on him with a stick when Layton dealt him a blow with a shovel which crushed in Mooneyham's skull. The injured man was put in a wagon and driven to Rex Hospital here but died on the road. Layton surrendered and was committed to jail to-night without bail, until the hearing Friday at noon. Layton has a wife but no children. Mooneyham leaves a wife and four children.

After the altercation between the two men, Mooneyham's wife came up and saw her husband lying on the ground. She made at Layton, who struck her between the eyes with his fist and knocked her down. She is in a serious condition. Both men are about 45 years old.

The question of the liability of fraternal orders having a benefit branch for its members for the State license tax under North Carolina insurance laws and their subjection to the insurance laws of this State, is being pressed on Commissioner of Insurance J. R. Young just now for a ruling. Mr. William J. Bellamy, of Wilmington, is here as attorney for the Order of Eagles, incorporated under the laws of Washington State, with authority to organize a fraternal society or order with benefits for its members and is conferring with the Insurance Commissioner regarding this matter. Other orders of the same character doing business in the State are much interested in the movement. No fight is to be made, it being the purpose of the order to pay the tax and comply with the State laws if the Commissioner rules that they must so operate in his State.

A new enterprise was chartered for Clinton, Sampson county, this morning. It is the Union County Grocery Co., with $5,000 capital by A. R. Bizzell, H. A. Grady and others.

TAYLOR'S BAZAAR YESTERDAY.

Annual Opening of Fall and Winter Millinery and Dry Goods.

Taylor's Bazaar, on Market street, was thronged with ladies yesterday in response to invitations to the annual opening of Fall and Winter millinery at that popular establishment. For years the Bazaar has been noted for the exclusiveness of its display and the good taste that is exercised in the selection of articles for every department. This year is proving no exception to the rule and all the visitors yesterday were delighted with what they saw. The Misses Taylor spent some time in the North just prior to the opening of the season and have many new offerings that will appeal to those who worship at the shrine of fashion. The opening continues until this evening and all the ladies of Wilmington are cordially invited to visit the store whether they desire to by just now or not.

A specialty is made at the opening of the sale of ladies' garments and other ready-to-wear goods that will be found quite up to the styles in every particular.

NOVEL RENT HEARING

Syrian in Possession of South Front Street Store Refuses to Vacate.

IN MAGISTRATE'S COURT

New Hardware Firm Must Go Elsewhere as Oriental Wins Suit Against Real Estate Agent—The Trial By Jury.

The possession of the stores at 19-21 Front street, formerly occupied as salesrooms by the supply department of the Wilmington Iron Works, was the subject of an interesting and hotly contested suit before Justices John J. Furlong and George Harriss yesterday afternoon. The premises are at present occupied by one Josh Simon, a Syrian merchant who wants to retain the stand. At the same time James Owen Reilly, the real estate agent, representing the owners, desires possession of the place and had already rented to Messrs. Sweeney & Sloan, the new hardware firm, which expected to begin business October 1st., but was unable to get possession.

The suit was an action for ejectment against Simon, who was represented by Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy, and set up a prior claim to the rental of the stores. Mr. Reilly was represented by ex-Judge E. K. Bryan. The case was first moved from Justice Furlong, who set the hearing before Justice George Harriss. Upon the calling of the case before the latter magistrate, the defendant's attorney asked for a jury trial and after some difficulty the following were empanelled: Messrs. J. A. Springer, T. W. Wood, W. E. Glenn, Henry Hewett, G. W. Mathews and J. T. Runge. The hearing lasted for some time and drew quite a large crowd of spectators. The jury retired for a verdict and were unable to agree for 45 minutes when a verdict was finally returned in favor of the Syrian merchant. An appeal was taken to the Superior Court by Mr. Reilly and the case will likely hang fire for a year or more, Simon in the meantime remaining in possession of the place.

Messrs. Sweeney & Sloan in the meantime have rented another store in the Wessell block on Market street and will open there.

DEATH OF B. C. BORDEAUX.

Well Known Young Man Will Be Buried With Red Men Honors.

Only a brief announcement of the death of young Mr. Benjamin Cooper Bordeaux was contained in this paper yesterday morning. Mr. Bordeaux passed away at 2:50 o'clock at his home, No. 314 Harnett street, after an illness of only a short time. He was 27 years old and had lived in this city for some time, numbering his friends by the score. He was last employed with the Portner Brewing Company in this city and was held in the highest esteem by his employer, Mr. Banck. Out of respect to Mr. Bordeaux, the offices of the company will be closed in this city to-day from 10 o'clock until noon.

Mr. Bordeaux leaves a wife and two children, of this city, and his mother, three brothers and two sisters living in Pender county. They all have the sympathy of many friends in their sorrow.

Mr. Bordeaux was a leading member of Eyota Tribe, Improved Order of Red Men, and the funeral will be conducted with the honors of that organization from the late residence at 10 o'clock this morning. Elsewhere will be found an official notice calling all Red Men to assemble at their wigwam this morning for the purpose of attending the services in a body.

Mr. and Mrs. Toon Bereaved.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Toon extend their sincere sympathy to them in the death of their infant son, Thomas Glenn, aged three months, which occurred yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock at the family home in this city, No. 516 Princess street. The funeral will be conducted this morning at 10:30 o'clock from the residence and the interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

RALEIGH TO COAST

Through Trains From Capital City to Wilmington Over the New Line—Use Atlantic Yadkin Tracks From Fayetteville.

Yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer has the following of interest in Wilmington:

"President J. A. Mills, of the Raleigh & Southport Railroad, who was in the city yesterday, said that within a week or two he will put a train on his road to run through from Raleigh to Wilmington, which will make fast time, leaving Raleigh in the afternoon and making the run to Wilmington in about four hours. The train, when it reaches Fayetteville, will use the tracks of the Atlantic & Yadkin division of the Atlantic Coast Line to Wilmington.

"It is said that it is not improbable that the A. C. L. Wilmington, Greensboro and Mount Airy trains will use the passenger depot of the Raleigh & Southport, instead of the present depot on upper Hay street. The Raleigh & Southport is going to have a very pretty depot, work on which is progressing rapidly."

McKANNA LIQUOR CURE.

Special Sermon by Pastor Hale at First Baptist Church Last Night.

Forty-six members of the class of fifty-odd patients who are taking the McKanna Three-Day Liquor Cure in the lecture room of the First Baptist church, were present last night at a special service conducted by Pastor Hale at which he talked on the subject "The Three-Day Liquor Cure and its Results in Wilmington to Date." The discourse was highly commendatory of Dr. McKanna and his work in Wilmington and the service was of more than especial interest.

An incident, somewhat sensational in its nature, was the opening of a telegram at the request of Dr. Hale by a member of the congregation and its reading to the public as a part of the discourse. The telegram was in reply to one sent by Dr. Hale to his brother-in-law in Reidsville, the home of the McKanna cure, yesterday afternoon and was as follows:

"Z. H. Neal, Reidsville, N. C.

"Have McKanna patients there stayed cured from the liquor habit. Answer. FRED. D. HALE"

At the request of Dr. McKanna the reply to the telegram was not opened by anyone interested and was handed to a member of the congregation last night to be read out to all, no one knowing the contents until it was read. The reply was as follows:

"Rev. Fred. D. Hale, D. D., Wilming- N. C.

"Every one of Dr. McKanna's Reidsville patients has stayed cured.

"Z. H. NEAL."

It is unnecessary to say that the result was very gratifying to Dr. McKanna and to the large number of his patients in the church auditorium.

AN EVENING WEDDING

Miss Margaret McIlhenny Catlett Bride of Mr. Clarence Lester Rowe.

A VERY PRETTY CEREMONY

In St. John's Church at Six O'clock in Presence of Large Assemblage of Guests, Popular Young People Wedded.

The marriage of Miss Margaret McIlhenny Catlett and Mr. Clarence Lester Rowe, in St. John's Episcopal church at six o'clock yesterday evening, is described as one of the prettiest weddings celebrated in the city in some itme. The interior of the church was tastefully decorated with palms and ferns and over the wedding scene was shed a soft illumination from numerous wax tapers, the effect being a charming one indeed. A large number of admiring friends and relatives were present to witness the happy event.

The wedding marches were skilfully rendered by Mr. Edward H. Munson, the bridal party being ushered into the church promptly at the appointed hour with the bridal chorus from Lohengrin. The party entered the church down the main aisle in the following order: Miss Lois Stanley, of Jacksonville, Fla., first bridesmaid, and Mr. George F. Catlett, groomsman; Miss Meta LeGrand and Miss Reba Myers, bridesmaids; Mr. Fab. J. Haywood, of Raleigh, and Mr. George G. Thomas, Jr., groomsmen; Miss Nannie Humphreys, of Mobile, Ala., and Miss Jennie Hodgson of Washington, D. C., bridesmaids; Mr. J. McRee Hatch and Mr. Paul L. Cantwell, groomsmen; the maid of honor, Miss Sue Catlett, and the bride, upon the arm of her father, Prof. Washington Catlett. The bride was joined at the altar by the groom and his best man, Dr. D. L. Alexander, of Ann Arbor, Mich., who entered from the choir room to one side. The service was read by the rector, the Rev. James Carmichael, D. D., the scene being at once beautiful and impressive. The ring service was used and the bride was given away by her father.

The bride wore a lovely creation of radium silk and carried bride's roses. The maid of honor, a sister of the bride, wore pink silk, black chiffon hat with gloves to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The bridesmaids were charmingly attired in white organdies, black chiffon hats, gloves to match, and carried lovely bouquets of pink bridesmaids roses. The ensemble at the altar was especially attractive.

The exit from the church was in reverse order of that in which the party entered and was to the gladsome music of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe received the hasty congratulations of many friends and left on the 6:50 northbound train for Linville and the mountains of Western North Carolina where they will spend their honeymoon. After December 1st. they will be at home to friends in this city at No. 117 Orange street. Both the bride and groom are very popular in Wilmington, Miss Catlett being much loved and admired in a wide circle of friends and the groom having lived here for several years and been connected with the various interests of Messrs. Hugh McRae & Company. At present he is in charge of the large Linville estate of Mr. MacRae in the mountains of Western North Carolina.

Tuesday evening the wedding party was delightfully entertained at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Washington Catlett, on Orange street. A large number of very handsome wedding gifts attest the popularity of the young people.

Gutters Must Be in Order.

The ordinance recently passed by the Board of Aldermen requiring all gutters from buildings to be placed under the sidewalks leading to the curb and which was more recently suspended until October 1st., to give property owners an opportunity of securing the labor, is now being enforced. A number of prominent merchants on the wharf were haled to the police court yesterday and were let off upon condition that they have the work done immediately. Other warrants have been served and the owners will be before the Mayor today. Th list of defendants yesterday included Messrs. J. A. Taylor, M. J. Heyer, J. C. Heyer and R. W. Hicks.

WATCH BUTLER.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Charlotte Observer writes that Senator Simmons, chairman of the State Democratic executive committee, is entirely satisfied with the Democratic outlook in North Carolina. There is no earthly reason why North Carolinians should want to swap the patriotic Democratic party for one that ever humiliated the State, but it is always a good idea not to be over-confident. Because it is an off year and things appear to be safe, is no reason why any voters should not go to the polls. Every Democrat in the State should go to the polls in November and make the majority so big that it would utterly destroy the hopes of Republicans that they will ever capture North Carolina. The Observer's correspondent quotes Chairman Simmons:

"He said everything was getting on very nicely indeed and that he was very much pleased at the work being done and at the temper of the Democrats. When asked about the vote and majority this year, he said there would be practically no change in the majority as compared with that two years ago, both as to the State ticket and the Legislature. It is not an election to call for a great vote, but if it were so and one calculated to bring the vote out, the majority would be larger. He says that two years ago the Democratic party did not bring out its own vote as fully as did the Republicans and that there would be something of this feeling this year in all the sections where there is no fight, but in the counties where there is a fight the Democratic vote will be fuller than it was two years ago. So far from the trend in the State being Republican it is more strongly Democratic. The leadership of Marion Butler, now acknowledged by everybody in both parties, will cost his party fully 5,000 votes in North Carolina. A prominent Republican remarked to Chairman Simmons last week that the speech which Butler made in a certain county in the past ten days had cost the Republicans 200 votes in that county. Butler is the only Republican making a systematic canvass of the State, and he is going into all the counties in the east."

Butler may be doing harm by his speeches, and we hope he is, but it must be remembered that we lost out on him once upon a time by discounting the foxy gentleman. He landed himself in the United States Senate while we were pooh-hooing him. In this campaign he is doubtless not working for fun. However, Butler may have two objects in view—one to increase the Republican majority in the State; and the other to make his influence in National politics more potent or persuasive. In other words, his acitvity may really mean to get a stronger pull at Washington. For instance, the Observer's correspondent goes on to say:

"From other sources The Observer's correspondent learns that ex-Senator Butler is gradually assuming the real leadership of the Republican party in North Carolina. He is aggressive and he dominates the gatherings of the old line Republicans. Of course he stands in with the Republican leaders in Washington, who think he is doing great things in this part of the country, and he is spending much money at Greensboro. A well-known Republican said today he would not be surprised if, as a result of Butler's work in North Carolina, he was given some important national position. The situation is thus made a very strange one indeed, and it would seem to gall some of the Republicans."

Butler has some object in view by getting busy in this campaign and whatever it is, the Democrats of North Carolina should roll up a majority that will utterly discount him. There is no use for a Democrat to stay away from the polls because it is an off year.

THE HALF IS NOT KNOWN.

The Charlotte Chronicle thus refers to a great North Carolina industry:

"North Carolina leads in a good many other things than cotton manufacturing. The Geological Survey estimates that the output in 1905 of sheet mica in the six producing States—North Carolina, Colorado, New Hampshire, Georgia, South Dakota and New Mexico—amounts to 851,000 pounds, with a total value of $185,900. North Carolina leads with two-fifths of the production. And this in the face of the fact that the mica mining industry of this State is as yet only partially developed. There is more mica in the mountains of North Carolina than in all the other localities mentioned in the Geographical Survey report."

The half has never been known about North Carolina's mineral wealth. Some of these days there will be a development of these resources that will cause us to wonder if the people of this generation have been asleep. We are always looking for something to turn up in that connection and we won't be surprised when it comes.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—The deepest humiliation has not yet fallen upon the Democratic party. What if Mr. Hearst should decline the nomination!—New York World.

—Twice Pennsylvania has elected a Democratic Governor and twice a Democratic President followed. It is just as well not to forget that.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

—Monocles are to be tabooed in London. To wear glasses and look intellectual is still good form, but it will no longer be fashionable to wear one glass and look half-witted.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

—The President will have no more trouble in "recognizing Secretary Taft as the Government of Cuba than he had in "recognizing" the republic of Panama.—Philadelphia Record.

—Governor Pennypacker thinks that the magnificence of the new Capitol will elect the Republican ticket. Now, Governor, wasn't $13,000,000 a little too much to spend on a campaign document?—Philadelphia North American.

—Mr. Hearst is running for Governor on two platforms that are contradictory of each other in one or more important particulars. But that will not worry Mr. Hearst, since according to the old story platforms are made to get in on and not to stand on.—Savannah News.

—There is not a Republican orator on the stump today begging white men "to be free" and vote the Radical ticket who didn't vote and speak in favor of keeping the ballot in the hands of all the negroes. And there's not one who would not favor full negro suffrage again if his party had the power to confer it.—Raleigh News and Observer.

—Permission is hereby granted to the Subsidized News to print in full the plea made to negroes to vote the Republican ticket contained in the "Republican Text Book—1906." If the News will add a list of the offices held by negroes in North Carolina in 1898-99, it will be a clincher to get the solid negro vote.—Raleigh News and Observer.

—As between Mr. Hearst and Mr. Hughes personally, we should vote for Mr. Hughes; as between the parties represented by these two men, we should vote for Mr. Hearst not because of his par as at present organized and dominated deserves the support of conservative people, but because his party, bad as it is, is not so inexpressibly corrupt as the party for which Mr. Hughes stands.—Charleston News and Courier.

GEORGE BUTLER RUNS TO COVER

Marion Butler's Brother Declines Republican Nomination for State Senator from Sampson and Harnett Counties—Sampson Going Democratic.

Raleigh News and Observer.)

Dunn, N. C., Oct. 2.—There is a great stir among the Republicans of the Fifteenth Senatorial District. Like a thunder clap from the clear blue sky comes the refusal of Major Geo. Butler, of Clinton, to accept the nomination for the State Senate from Sampson. Just why he has waited until this juncture to decline this nomination, which was made several weeks ago, is significant. Many think that he has seen the hand-writing on the wall and will not dare face the battle, the result of which now appears so evident. The Republicans were relying on him, in a great measure, to lead their battle and prevent, if possible, the Democrats from regaining Sampson. The tide is changing in Sampson; Butlerism has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. Until a few years ago, Sampson was Democratic by a large majority; then the Fusionists captured it; and it is now gradually drifting back to its old bearings.

All day long at Lillington yesterday the few Republican bosses of the county were in close consultation. They were as solemn and as serious as graven images. Disappointment was plainly impressed on their perplexed visages.

Democrats of Sampson, Harnett and Johnston are waging an active, aggressive battle and the indications now point that Sampson will go Democratic this year. Effective work is going on in these counties, and Democratic majorities in Johnston and Harnett will be greatly increased. Conservative Democrats in Sampson say they have sufficient proof already to warrant them in claiming a Democratic landslide in Sampson. Several Republicans have been considered to fill the place vacated by Maj. Butler, but no action has yet been taken further than that a convention has been called to meet at Dunn on the 6th inst. Under existing circumstances the Republicans of the Fifteenth District are gloomy and well they may be. They have no hope except in Sampson, and their scheme for success there has been foiled by the action of Major Butler.

TWINKLINGS.

—"He said that if I would marry him he would conquer the world." "Well, did he?" "Not yet; he hasn't conquered mamma yet."—Houston Post.

—Wigg—A bad memory gets a fellow into lots of trouble. Wagg—Yes, it's always springing things on you that you thought you had forgotten.—Philadelphia Record.

—He—How women do cackle when a lot of them get together, don't they? She—Well, what of it? When a lot of men get together, all they do is to crow.—Detroit Free Press.

SCIENCE PREVENTS BALDNESS.

The Fatal Germ and Its Remedy Now Facts of Science.

It is the rarest thing in the world for a man to be necessarily bald. No man whose hair is not dead at the roots, need be bald if he will use Newbro's Herpicide, the new scalp antiseptic. Herpicide destroys the germ that cuts the hair off at the root; and cleans the scalp of dandruff and leaves it in a perfectly healthy condition. Mr. Mannett, in the Maryland Block, Butte, Mont., was entirely bald. In less than a month Herpicide had removed the enemies of hair growth, and nature did its work by covering his head with thick hair an inch long, and in six weeks he had a normal suit of hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

RAIN IN PARIS.

It Does Not Dampen the Spirits of the Frenchman.

The sole effect rain seems to have on French spirits is to bring out its brightness by contrast with clouds. "Mens! Il pleut!" ("Ah, it rains!") And monsieur, dressed with scrupulous care, ready to sally forth, does not stop for an umbrella, probably, but steps out jauntily into the street and makes no more unfriendly comment on the weather than "Il ne fait pas beau ce matin." ("It is not fine this morning.")

This is the French point of view. Discomfort of any sort is for them only the negative of something desirable, and so they keep their minds on what is pleasing, naming it to define the absence of it. La petite Helene and her little brother Henri, who go to school in the neighborhood, trot along in the rain, the bonne at their heels carrying their school bags. Henri wears a capuchon, a cape with the hood drawn up over his head. Helene holds over her head a minuscule umbrella, which she tilts in such fashion as to make the most of the rain. Unrebuked by any threat of something awful to result if a drop of water falls on them, both children dance along in the wet, letting the drops fall on their upturned faces and laughing in glee as if the rain were another playfellow. Even his royal highness the baby does not miss his accustomed outing on account of the weather. Nunu, the nurse, will shorten the great ribbon streamers of the white cap she wears, and she pins up her dress to escape the muddy streets. Le bebe himself is resplendent in the laces and feathers which are an inseparable feature of the magnificent devotion which the French bestow upon an infant; he is snugly tucked in his gocart, the hood is raised if it is a heavy downpour—anything less is thought to be good for him—and off he goes.—Harper's Bazar.

STRENGTH OF CHARACTER.

It Combines Power of Will and Power of Self Restraint.

Strength of character consists of two things—power of will and power of self restraint. It requires two things, therefore, for its existence—strong feelings and strong command over them. Now, it is here we make a great mistake. We mistake strong feelings for strong character.

A man who bears all before him, before whose frown domestics tremble and the children quake, because he has his will obeyed and his own way in all things, we call a strong man.

The truth is he is a weak man. It is his passions that are strong. He that is mastered by them is weak.

You must measure the strength of a man by the power of the feelings he subdues, not by the power of those which subdue him, and hence composure is often the result of strength.

Did we never see a man receive a flagrant insult only growing a little pale and then reply quietly? This is a man spiritually strong.

Or did we never see a man bearing a hopeless, daily trial remain silent and never tell the world what cankered his home peace? That is strength.

He who, keenly sensitive, with many powers of indignation in him, can be provoked and yet restrain himself and forgive—he is the strong man, the spiritual hero.

Pelted With Epithets.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson, the most famous temperance advocate in England, was the target of the political wits. During his last campaign for parliament Sir Wilfrid was greeted as a "peregrinating pump handle," "an old cracked teapot," "a confiscatory mollycoddle," "a washed out water party," "a pop bottle pump orator," "the apostle of slops," "a maudlin mountebank" and "a buffoon." The last epithet was so often hurled at Sir Wilfrid that he remarked it reminded him of "Selah" in the Psalms. His hatred of war and rum led to an epigram which has frequently been repeated. "The country," he said, "is governed by two heathen deities—Bacchus and Mars, or, in other words, by the god of bottles and the god of battles."

Painting and Drawing.

Sir Frederick Leighton once supplemented words of advice and encouragement to a struggling young artist by handing him an envelope containing a check for $250, with the remark, "One day, my friend, I do not doubt that you will be able to draw even better than this." This reminds one of the anecdote told of the visit of old Joseph Gillott, the pen man, to Turner. "I have come to swap some of my pictures for yours," he said. "What do you mean?" exclaimed Turner. "You don't paint!" "No, I don't, but I draw," said Gillott, unfolding a roll of Bank of England notes, "and here are some of my pictures."

Mutual Satisfaction.

"What's this I hear about the plumber and the paper hanger in the next block? Have they been trading houses?"

"Not exactly. They did a lot of work for each other and each had to take the other's house for his pay."—Chicago Tribune.

Willing to Compromise.

A young woman called at a house where a maid was wanted. She asked the mistress of the house if they had any children, to which she replied that they had five. "Then I can't work for you," said the girl. "Oh, do stay," said the woman. "We will kill the children!"

If a man has his board fence painted white it immediately suggests to the boy a piece of charcoal; if black, a piece of chalk.

Put an Ad. in the Star

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Winston-Salem's elegant new hotel, the Zinzendorf, opened October 1.

—Both the cotton mills at Raleigh have recently installed new machinery.

—The Winston-Salem fair opened yesterday. Governor Glenn, whose home is there, delivered the opening address.

—F. M. Sharpe, formerly superintendent of the Pearl Cotton Mill at Durham, was shot and killed in Atlanta Saturday night. It is stated that the shooting was accidental, the result of his carelessness.

—Sheriff S. I. Dudley and Deputy Sheriff J. E. Barnhill, of Pitt county, were in Raleigh on Monday and committed James Bell, white, and Henry Jenkins, colored, to the State's prison. Bell's term is 10 years for aiding and abetting in arson. Jenkins was sentenced to five years for larceny.

—The subscribers to the cotton storage warehouse at Scotland Neck increased the subscription so near $5,000 that it will doubtless be made up in a few days. A committee has been appointed to have the company incorporated and to proceed to build.

—Richard Ricks, colored, employed on the Atlantic Coast Line through freight, was probably fatally mashed while coupling cars at Wilson Monday evening while the train was shifting. He was sent to the A. C. L. Hospital at Rocky Mount and will most likely die.

—Winston-Salem Special, Oct. 1: J. G. Goldstein, a Hebrew citizen, was arrested this afternoon on the charge of attempting to burn the dwelling occupied by him to secure $1,000 insurance carried on his household property alleged to be worth not more than $700. Goldstein will be given a hearing Thursday. In default of $1,000 bond he was committed to jail.

—Hamlet Special, Oct. 2: The Seaboard is making extensive improvements in its freight yards here. A new transfer shed and yard office is being erected just north of the present location. The new shed will be very much larger than the old one. The old shed will be torn away and where it now stands sidewalks will be laid. The yard and transfer force is to be increased as soon as the plant is completed.

—Mr. A. A. White, of Halifax county, who took an active part in the recent Democratic primaries, was subsequently nominated for the Legislature by the Republicans of the county, refused to accept. He printed in the Commonwealth a card saying that having worked in Democratic primaries he feels honor bound to support the Democratic ticket, and that the Republican nomination was without his knowledge or consent.

—The receipts of the Raleigh postoffice for September were 5,282.28, against 5,273.30 in September 1905.

—President C. C. Moore, of the North Carolina branch of the Southern Cotton Association, who has all along been urging farmers to hold their cotton for ten cents, will aldress the farmers as follows: Warrenton, Saturday, October 6th; Nashville, Wednesday, October 10th; Wilson, Thursday, October 11th; Clinton, Friday, October 12th; Smithfield, Saturday, October 13th.

—Asheville Special, Oct. 2: Announcement was made today that the joint campaign in Buncombe between Chas. A. Webb, Democratic candidate for the State Senate and Col. Lusk, the Republican candidate would open in Asheville on the night of October 12. Mr. Webb is stronger with the people now than he has ever been and his election in November is assured by an increased majority. He has twice represented Buncombe county in the Senate and has an enviable reputation.

—Raleigh News and Observer: The following telegram from Col. F. B. Arendell to Hon. W. R. Hearst appeared among many other congratulatory telegrams in Sunday's New York American: "Hon. Wm. Randolph Hearst, New York:—The plundered masses everywhere hail the new David—Killer of Plunderbund, the giant of modern monopoly. F. B. ARENDELL." Col. Arendell is also the posessor of an autograph letter of acknowledgment and thanks from Mr. Hearst himself.

—Washington Special to Raleigh News and Observer, Oct. 2: Lieutenant Governor Francis D. Winston, who is just back from Boston, where he made a speech as the representative of Governor Glenn at the New England good food fair, was a caller at the White House this evening and received a most cordial greeting from President Roosevelt. The chief executive referred to his recent visit to North Carolina, at which time Lieutenant Governor Winston was representative of the State by reason of the unfortunate absence of Governor Glenn, Mr. Roosevelt said he never had a better time in his life. This gave the lieutenant governor, acting for the grand lodge of Masons in the State, the opportunity to extend an invitations to attend the laying of the corner stone of the Masonic Temple in Raleigh, next Spring. The invitation was very much appreciated by Mr. Roosevelt, who said that he did not think it possible for him to be present. He spoke in high terms of praise of the Masonic order, of which he is a blue lodge member.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Oct. 3: Rev. J. N. Cole has formally taken charge as superintendent of the Methodist Orphanage here, though at present he is here only for a few days each week. It is understood that he will move his family here about the first of November, as by that time a successor will probably be appointed to continue his work in the Rockingham District.

—Kinston Special, Oct. 2: Papers of assignment were filed by Mr. S. A. Quinerly this afternoon and his brother, Mr. M. H. Quinerly, of Greenville, was named his assignee to dispose of the assets to the best possible advantage for the benefit of the creditors. The total liabilities as enumerated in as-$4,500 and the assetts the Quinerly drug unfortunate absence of Governor store, stock, furniture and fixtures and other personal property.

—Charlotte Special, Oct. 2: The Board of Aldermen at their regular monthly meeting last night adopted a prohibitive ordinance requiring a tax of one thousand dollars on all sorts of ciders—cherry, orange, etc., with a fine of fifty dollars for selling the same without a license. The police have experienced much trouble with drunks that were, according to the best evidence, caused by these drinks. Last night the Board determined to put a stop to the matter.

—Greenville Special, Oct. 2: Marion Butler spoke here today to a fair sized crowd. His speech was simply a repetition of the same misrepresentations he is making in other parts of the State. The burden of his song was throwing boquets at Roosevelt and trying to show extravagance in the Democratic State Government as compared with fusion government of eight years ago. His speech may have given some comfort to the Republicans present, but by others it was regarded as a very poor effort and not as good as they thought Butler could make. It did the Democratic party no harm here.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Oct. 2: State Lecturer H. M. Cates, of the Farmers' Alliance, has returned to his home in Alamance county, in which he did very effective work in revivifying and strengthening the alliances of that county. At an early date he will go to Franklin county for a campaign in the interest of this organization. State Secretary T. B. Parker, in an interview yesterday afternoon sand "The Farmers' Alliance is heartily co-operating with the Southern Cotton Association in the matter of fixing a minimum price for the staple, in making warehouse arrangements for holding cotton and obtaining advances on same, and in fact in all of its untertakings."

—Lumberton Special, Oct. 2: Dr. Duncan Sinclair, a well known citizen of the county, died Saturday night at his home in Rowland, and the remains were interred at the Presbyterian church at Ashepole. Dr. Sinclair, was the father of Mr. B. A. Sinclair, nominee of the Democratic party for solicitor in this district. His wife and a daughter, Miss Sallie Sinclair, also survive. The deceased, in his active manhood, was not only one of the most prominent physicians, but one of the most influential citizens of Robeson county. Dr. Sinclair was one of the members elected to the Constitutional convention from that county, the other being the late Col. Murdock McRae, if we mistake not, when the famous telegram was sent from Raleigh: "Hold Robeson, and save the State."

—Maxton Correspondence: Saturday evening about 8 o'clock Dr. A. B. Croom, while returning from a country trip, was held up by a negro man, Wesley Evans, who was armed with a repeating rifle. Evans had been to town and "tanked up" with mean whiskey and was wildly drunk. Before Dr. Croom came along several wagons had been held up and were stopped, none of their passengers being able to induce Evans to allow passage. The wild man seemed to heave no personal grudge against any of those held up, but simply wanted to use his new gun. Dr. Croom managed to get past without injury but Evans swore he'd not let another man by, black or white. Officers went out immediately upon being informed of the affair and found Evans had gone to his home, about seven miles north of town. The officers followed. He had reached home when found and, with some difficulty, they succeeded in capturing him, bringing him to this place and locking him up. His trail was held Monday before Justice J. S. McRae, who bound the prisoner over to court under $300 bond. This is a most serious case and will no doubt go hard with the negro, who has none too good a reputation.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Oct. 3.—"Arrangements are being made whereby a through passenger train will be operated from Raleigh to Wilmington over the Raleigh and Southport and Atlantic Coast Line, by way of Fayetteville. It is said that this train will be in operation in two weeks."

—The Star stated through error yesterday that Misses Donnelly & King, the milliners, would occupy one of the new Garrell stores, on Princess street. It should have been 113 Princess street, the store just vacated by F. H. Krahnke & Son, which will be remodelled and fitted up nicely to meet the needs of the new firm.

—The Star had a pleasant call yesterday from Mr. W. M. Smith, business manager of the South Atlantic Quarterly, published at Trinity College, Durham, N. C. The October number, which is just from the press, closes the fifth year of that excellent publication and will include several striking features. One of these is a group of articles on the lynching problem The leading article is by Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews, under the title "Our Legacy From a Century of Pioneers."

The Maxton Tragedy.

With reference to the tragic death of Mr. Albinus McLean, a notice of which apeared in yesterday's paper, the following from a special in yesterday's Charlotte Observer will be read with interest: "Coroner Rancke, of Lumberton, was wired for at once and arrived at 4 o'clock, when an investigation was begun. Dr. L. R. Kirkpatrick was called to dissect the body where the wound was found. After a close investigation it was found that the ear wound, as well as a slight one on the nose, was the result of rats having eaten on the body after death had ensued and that death was from natural causes, possibly from heart failure. The body was prepared for burial immediately after the autopsy and was taken to the McLean burying ground, one mile south of Maxton, and interred, Rev. Dr. Hill performing the ceremony."

Dr. McKanna's Class Making Progress.

The class to which Dr. J. J. McKanna is administering his Three-Day Liquor Cure in the lecture room of the First Baptist church now numbers 53 and the treatment will be concluded to-night. Dr. McKanna expresses great satisfaction with the progress of the patients and is confident of making a cure in every case. Last night at the prayer meeting service at the church Pastor Fred D. Hale preached a special sermon on the progress of the treatment of Dr. McKanna thus far. Many of the class were in attendance.

THE LITTLE DUCHESS.

Countess Olga Delighted a Raleigh Audience—"Her Own Way."

"The Little Duchess" gave a good audience an evening of jollity at the Academy of Music last night, says the Raleigh Times of Tuesday. The entertainment was full of fun and frolic and tuneful airs sung by voices that in several instances were above the average. Notably was this the case with Gustave, the bathing master, whose parody on "O Promise Me" convulsed the house; Abel Skinner, guardian of the Little Duchess and the Little Duchess herself, who made up in expression what she lacked in scope and depth. The company has three good comedians: Robert Lett, as the bathing master; Irving Brooks, as the fencing master, and George Moore, as Jose Zaramba. Madeline Cook, as the wife of Jose also essayed a comic role, but her success could hardly be described as howling

The Countess Olga, as the Little Duchess, fits her part with ease and grace, and is a very pleasant little milady to look upon. To rouge and pearl powder she appears to owe nothing. Very sensibly she prefers to look her own natural self, and leaves the false glow and glitter of cosmetics to the chorus.

The attraction will be the offering at the Academy here to-morrow night. Seats are now on sale.

An attractive feature of Jules Murry's production of Clyde Fitch's greatest play "Her Own Way" which will be seen at the Academy Saturday night is the manner in which the ladies costume their parts. Miss Sylvia Lynden, who plays the leading part of Georgiana, is particularly fortunate in the selection of her gowns. In the first act she wears an elaborate brown velvet costume and carries the handsome sables that were purchased by her in St. Petersburg last Summer. Her second dress is a negligee of fine lace bought from Brussels by a member of her family over half a century ago. In the third act she is dressed in mourning, her handsome black gown relieved only by a string of pearls. These pearls came to her from her great grandmother who purchased them in Spain. Miss Lynden does not believe in stage jewelry. Every ornament she wears is of the finest quality and in "Her Own Way," as the scenes are all modern, it is necessary that her jewelry be in keeping with her costumes and the surroundings of the play. Seats on sale to-morrow.

Funeral of Young Mr. Leslie.

The funeral of the late Arthur Morris Leslie was conducted at 10 o'clock yesterday morning from the Chapel of the Good Shepherd, the Rev. T. P. Noe, the rector, officiating. The interment was in Bellevue cemetery, the pallbearers having been Messrs. Walter A. Thomas, Tom S. Walker, Will Bell, J. W. Roderick, J. G. Sarvis and F. G. Pigford.

HARRY A. BERWIND WRECKED.

Schooner on Which Fearful Mutiny Occurred Off This Coast.

A special copyright cable to the New York Herald from Cuba under date of October 2nd. has the following in regard to the wreck of the schooner Harry A. Berwind on board which the fearful mutiny and murder occurred off this coast some time ago and for whose part in which Arthur Adams and Robert Sawyer are now in jail here under sentence of death:

"Havana, Oct. 2.—Eight hands and Capt. Louis H. Davidson, of Boston, master of the four-masted schooner Harry A. Berwind, of Philadelphia, arrived here to-day from the Isle of Pines, where the vessel was wrecked on the south coast on September 24. The schooner brought coal to San Juan and sailed light for Mobile on the 16th for lumber. On the 20th fierce gales, lasting four days, blew the Berwind high on the beach. The vessel was a total wreck.

The men were rescued by a sloop owned by S. H. Pearcy, of Nueva Gerona, and taken there and by rail to Havana. All expected the Berwind thus to end, saying she was born unlucky. Seven months ago the captain, mate, engineer, cook and one sailor were killed in a mutiny off Wilmington, N. C., for which a sailor named Scott was hanged on July 6. The schooner frequently ran into steamers or got in other trouble."

"SERGEANT KITTY" SUPERFINE.

Splendid Comic Opera A Delight to Large Theatre Audience.

"Sergeant Kitty," the well known comic opera success, with the charming Miss Helen Byron in the title role, was the offering at the Academy of Music last night. A large audience was delighted with the production, many critics declaring it the best offering of its class at the local playhouse in several seasons. Of course Miss Byron was the bright, particular star but every member of the cast was an artist way above mediocrity. The show pleased well.

The absence of the orchestra would have detracted from any but the especially strong company that the "Sergeant Kitty' people are. In explanation of the absence of the orchestra, the Messrs. Cowan Brothers, the local managers, announce that the fault lies entirely with the musical director of the company who failed to show up for rehearsal yesterday afternoon and pleaded as an excuse that he was not notified that the house carried an orchestra. The Academy orchestra was present to a man both for the rehearsal and the play last night and received their pay, but, of course, for an opera it was all folderol to think of their going in the pit without the rehearsal.

Six Per Cent Mortgages.

Mortgages are a class of securities by themselves; their values are not dependent upon public franchises, nor are they subject to legislative attack or official investigation; neither is their value depreciated by aggressive competition or corporate mismanagement.

OCEAN ROPES.

A Marine Plant That Grows a Stem Three Hundred Feet Long.

The largest marine plant and probably one of the highest plants known on this globe is a gigantic seaweed, the nereocystis, the stem of which has been found to grow as much as 300 feet long. It was first discovered not far from the Alaskan coast, but has since been found floating in various parts of the Pacific ocean along the American and Asiatic shores. This seaweed grows in a very curious manner. Large quantities of it are found at a little distance from shore and at depths not exceeding 300 feet. On loamy bottoms large thickets of this plant take root, and a stem of the thickness of ordinary cord grows upward. At its top there is a pear shaped balloon, which grows with the stem, and when it reaches the surface of the water it often measures six feet and more in length, with a diameter of four feet six inches. This balloon has, of course, an upward tendency and keeps the stem growing until it floats on the surface of the water. From the top of this balloon a large tuft of strong, thick, spadelike leaves grow out, which originally are not more than two feet long and which grow and split until from the balloon a roselike growth of from fifty to sixty-five feet in diameter covers the water. This gigantic weed grows in such quantities that near the shore large meadowlike islands are formed, which impede navigation. The natives of the Aleutian islands make manifold usage of this plant. From their strong dried stems they make ropes 250 feet and more long, while balloons of this weed furnish them with large vessels after they are dried, the smaller ones being used in their boats to bail out water. The long leaves, after being dried, are cut into narrow strips and used for wickerwork, the making of baskets and similar furniture.

LAPP WOLF HUNTERS.

Swift Runners on Snowshoes Make Short Work of the Brutes.

The Swedish Lapps live entirely with, by and upon their reindeer. A Lapp who owns a thousand deer is a very rich man; but, as taxes are assessed upon the number of deer, he is inclined to underestimate his herd. The most dangerous enemy to the herd is the wolf, who, if so disposed, can kill thirty deer in a night. A band of wolves can make a rich Lapp poor. When the snow is deep and soft and it is announced that wolf tracks have been seen in the neighborhood of the deer the swiftest runners on snowshoes prepare for an exciting chase. The wolf may have a start of a mile or two, but the track it leaves in the deep, soft snow is so prominent that the hunters can follow it at their best speed.

The wolf, though he may run fast, has but slight chance of escaping the short men who on snowshoes rush through the wood, dart down steep hills and jump from ledges several yards in height. Each hunter does his best to outrun the others, for the wolf belongs to the Lapp who strikes the first blow. As soon as the leading hunter is close enough to the wolf he gives it a heavy blow across the loins with his strong spiked snowshoe staff. If there are other wolves to be pursued, he kills it outright; if not, he disables it and waits till all the hunters arrive before giving the death stroke.

On Tipping the Hat.

New Yorkers still cling to the ancient custom of tipping their hats when greeting a male friend or acquaintance. It is a common sight to see a staid, prosperous looking business man as he passes an acquaintance tipping his hat, although the other is alone and unaccompanied by a woman. It is the same after a party has been together somewhere, at dinner, probably, or at the theater. You will notice that as one separates himself from the others he will say good night or au revoir and then tip his hat. Also when one man is introduced to another it is dollars to a subway ticket that he will lift his chapeau. Wonder why it is. They don't do it in Pittsburg.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

THE CAMPHOR LAUREL.

How the Drug Is Extracted From the Wood of the Tree.

The camphor laurel, from which the greater part of the camphor of commerce is produced, is a native of China, Japan, Formosa and Cochin-China. It is a hardy, long lived tree and sometimes grows to a great size. It has evergreen leaves, yellowish white flowers in panicles and is a very ornamental tree, the trunk running up to a height of twenty or thirty feet before branching. The fruit is very much like a black currant.

In the extraction of camphor the wood is first cut into small chips, and the chips are put into water in a still and steamed. The head of the still is filled with straw, and as the steam carries off the camphor in vapor it is deposited in little grains around the straw.

The crude camphor is then heated in a vessel, from which the steam is allowed to escape through a small aperture. The camphor sublimes in a semitransparent cake. In the manufacture of camphor the tree is necessarily destroyed, but by a rigid law of the lands in which the tree grows another is planted in the place of every one that is cut down. The wood is highly valued for carpenter's work.

Camphor was unknown to the Greeks and Romans and was first brought to Europe by the Arabs.

BROEK, IN HOLLAND.

It Is Said to Be the Cleanest Town In the World.

The cleanest town in the world is said to be Broek, in Holland. It is only a few miles from the capital, and has been famous for its cleanliness from time immemorial. It is also notable on account of the fanciful style of its houses and yards and gardens and streets.

The people, though only peasants, are all well to do, and all feel a pride in their town. It seems to be the first business of their lives to keep their houses freshly painted, their gardens in perfect order and their yards and streets as clean as a new pin. No carts are allowed in the streets, and no cattle.

Though the raising of stock and the making of butter and cheese are their occupations, a stranger would never imagine that there were any cattle in the region, unless he went to the beautiful green meadows at the back of the houses or the stables out there, where cows are kept in stalls scrubbed and washed like a kitchen.

The streets are too fine and neat for the feet of the animals to step on. All are paved with polished stone, intermingled with bricks of different colors, and kept so scrupulously clean that a lady could walk anywhere in white satin slippers.—Pearson's Weely.

Deadly Snakes.

The deadliest of snakes is said to be the mamba, an African cobra. It flies at everybody and everything; it goes out of its way to quarrel; it will even come down from a tree to solicit an interview. Over in India there is the great king cobra, or hamadryad, a size larger, quite as fierce—it has been known to chase a man on horseback; he had to ride for his life—but his poison is a degree less virulent. The difference, however, may be considered negligible and ceases to interest the patient after a few minutes. Among the Australian cobras, the pit vipers of America and the great west African vipers there are species with evil reputations, and the most alarming feature is that the aggressive snakes are all desperately poisonous.

The Size of Bolivia.

The area of Bolivia is not accurately known, yet it is probable that its present area is not far from 600,000 square miles, which is the equivalent of the area of Germany, France and Spain combined. From the lowlands on the east and southeast the land rises, sometimes by easy slope and sometimes by abrupt uplift to the snowcapped peak of Sorata, with its altitude of near 25,000 feet and to the pyramid of Illimani, which is given as 21,200 feet in height. La Paz lies at an elevation of 11,000 feet above sea level and Potosi at nearly 14,000 feet. A few miles west of La Paz lies the inland sea of Titicaca, at an elevation of 13,000 feet.

His Position In the Matter.

"Gracious!" exclaimed the fond wife, coming in her husband's den and finding him smoking his pipe and reading. "This room is thick with smoke. I don't see how you can stand to sit in here."

"You can't?" responded the brutal husband. "Well, I don't stand to sit in here; I sit to sit in here. Did you think you had married a freak?"

It is said that this was the first time in their married life that she slammed a door on leaving him.

Wit.

Wit, like every other power, has its boundaries. Its success depends on the aptitude of others to receive impressions, and that as some bodies, indissoluble by heat, can set the furnace and crucible at defiance, there are minds upon which the rays of fancy may be pointed without effect and which no fire of sentiment can agitate or exalt.—Johnson.

Scientific Language.

"No wonder," said the poet, "that no one cares to read the works of Haeckel, Darwin, Spencer, Huxley and so on. These men have much to say, but they don't know how to say it. They have never taken the time to learn to write." He drew his notebook from his pocket. "When Professor Thompson," he resumed, "hit on a new variety of cathode rays, he announced his discovery in these terms: 'Of an orthocathodic character, a deflectable fluorescifient excitant; of a paracathodic character, a deflectable fluorescifient nonexcitant; of a diacathodic character, a nondeflectable fluorescifient nonexcitant; of an isocathodic character, a deflectable, nonfluorescifient nonexcitant'—and so on for forty or fifty pages."

Badly Placed.

Lawley (expert shorthand reporter)—I say, James, the boy from the newspaper office has called for the report of that lecture. Is it finished?

James (a novice)—All but a short sentence in the middle of it, and I can't for the life of me make out from my notes what it is.

Lawley—Oh, just put in "great applause" and let it go.

James acts on the suggestion, and the lecture is sent for publication with the doctored part reading, "Friends, I will detain you but a few moments longer." (Great applause.)—London Express.

Ignorance Might Have Been Bliss.

"A lady on a sultry summer afternoon called on some friends," said a lecturer. "The talk buzzed along briskly, fans waved and the daughter of the house kept twitching uncomfortably, frowning and making little smothered exclamations of annoyance. Finally with an impatient sigh she rose and left the room.

"'Your daughter,' said the visitor, 'seems to be suffering from the heat.'

"'No,' said the hostess. 'She is just back home from college, and she is suffering from the family grammar.'"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Wise Man.

DATES FOR BRYAN AND MR. WILLIAMS

Democraic Congressional Committee Arranging Speaking Tours for the Peerless and the Minority Leader—After Congressman Blackburn' Scalp.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The Democratic congressional committee is now engaged in arranging a speaking tour for Mr. William Jennings Bryan and Mr. John Sharp Williams, the minority leader in the House of Representatives. No definite schedule has yet been completed for either of the distinguished Democrats, but it is expected they will both soon be on the stump.

Mr. Williams will probably make his appearance north of Mason and Dixon's line about the 13th of this month, and will then be prepared to continue his speaking tour until November 6th. Representative Talbert, of the second Maryland district, wants Mr. Williams to make some speeches for him and he will probably be assigned to that duty. He will speak a couple of days in North Carolina, and will also probably go to Pennsylvania to speak in some of the doubtful districts in that State. His other assignments have not yet been made, but they will soon be arranged.

Mr. Bryan will, it is expected, make some speeches in Kentucky, where the Democrats have their fighting blood up to a high pitch in several districts that are regarded as doubtful. He will probably make several speeches in Kentucky.

The assignments that the committee will make for Mr. Bryan are looked to with much interest, especially in view of his government ownership talk, which is not regarded as "good medicine" in many localities. The committee will probably announce in a few days the names of other prominent Democrats who will speak in the eighth North Carolina district in the hope of unseating Representative Blackburn and sending a Democrat to Congress in his place.

I suffered with my back for a long time. When I sat at my desk for awhile and attempted to straighten up I would have to catch hold of the chair for support and straighten myself gradually. The kidney secretions were dark colored and full of sendiment. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and went to R. R. Bellamy's drug store and got a box. Since using them my back is strong and I can move about and stand up as straight as ever and the kidney secretions have all cleared up. GREAT STORMS AND HUMAN LIFE

Equinoctial Disturbances on Both Sides of Globe Have Destroyed Thousands of Human Lives and Millions of Property.

(Charlote Chronicle.)

The autumnal equinox has been making itself felt with much more thon ordinary force this year. The beginning was the Atlantic coast storm which swept Wrightsvilel Beach. Since then this section has had clouds and driving rains, all the result of the hurricanes and typhoons that have been prevailing in different parts of the world. The summary of these is given by the Nashville Banner, which says that the typhoon that wrought disaster at Hong Kong seems to have had a sort of reactionady response on this side of the globe in the Gulf Coast hurricane. Such violent phenomena have been witnessed previously in both hempispheres in the past. On October 11, 1741, a destructive storm swept over the east coast of India. The water rose forty feet higher than ever before known and it is estimated that over 300,000 people perished. Over 1,000 vessels were wrecked. On October 10, 1780, probably the worst hurricane on record visited the West Indies. Bridgetown, on the island of Barbadoes, was entirely destroyed; St. Lucien, Grenada and St. Vincent were laid in waste; 1,400 houses were blown down in Port Royal, on the Island of Martinique; not a house was left standing in St. Pierre, and many vessels were dashed to pieces in those ports. The loss of life was enormous, over 5,000 people having perished in St. Esacia alone.

The storm that has just caused so much damage on the Gulf Coast is compared in the press dispatches to that which wrecked Galveston, but The Banner says that while the storm may have been as violent the destruction has been by no means as great as that at Galveston because of that city's Insular exposure. It was estimated that 6,000 lives were lost in Galveston and the property damage was valued at $20,000,000. The recent storm extended over a wider area than that which destroyed Galveston. It visited cities of Mobolie and Pensacola and numerous smaler towns, and some days wil be required to determine the full extent of its ravages. First reports are usually exaggerated, but it is certain that great havoc has been wrought and there is much distress in the hurricane's track that appeals for hedp.

THE C. W. POLVOGT CO.

Opposite Postoffice Wilmington, N. C

The greatest problem in the Millinery Department is to show the new ideas of both foreign and home artists first, when successful models and beginning to be generally copied. We discard them and introduce something new. It's a race against time and only a store especially organized for such service can ever hope to accomplish it.

Our Millinery Department has proven tis value to you by the very work we speak of and more new ideas find their introduction here than any other store in this city can boast of. And with all we charge but moderately, never more than other stores, nine times out of ten much less.

We will show over three hundred pattern hats at our opening.

Opening Week in the Suit Department.

Rods, racks, tables, shelves filled high with the cream of Cloakdom. The result of months of careful selections.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, October 3.—The cotton market was less active today and ruled nervous and unsettled. The close was at a decline of 31 to 47 points. Sales for the day were estimated at 500,000 bales. The market was steady at a decline of 15 to 25 points in response to lower cables. There were reports of more liberal spot offerings from the South and it looked as if most of the recent buyers were selling. At any rate prices worked off following the call, to a net decline of 26 to 34 points and while this was followed by a rally to opening figures, the market turned weak again in the afternoon and the low point of the day was reached in the late trading when prices were fully half a cent per pound below the high level touched yesterday. The feature of the middle session was the fact that while offerings are withdrawn on lift spots, they promptly increased on any slight bulge which made the selling appear to be for long rather than short account, and it was thought that the continued wet weather in the south prevented aggressiveness on the short side. October was relatively steady on the break and sold above December in the late trading. The weather continued unfavorable in the eastern belt but was clear in the west. The gulf storm attracted some attention, its course being still uncertain.

Receipts cotton at the ports today 39,970 bales, against 48,942 last week, and 64,681 last year. For the week 230,000 bales, against 278,545 last week, and 351,983 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 7,061 bales, against 3,340 last year, and at Houston, 12,438 bales, against 18,578 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet and steady, middling uplands 10.55; middling gulf 10.80; sales 512 bales. Futures closed steady. Prices follow:

KILLING DUMB ANIMALS.

Cases Where the Use of Chloroform Is Positively Cruel.

"Why will so many people cling to the idea that chloroforming is the most merciful means of death possible for dumb animals?" asked a veterinarian recently. 'Only the other day I was called upon to perform the trying and almost impossible task of killing an old horse in this way.

"The horse, it seems, had been the pet of a wealthy woman who left provision for him in her will and decreed that if ever the family to whose care she intrusted him should deem it necessary to end his life this should be done with chloroform, so that he might be assured a painless death. Then the horse became blind and otherwise disabled, and the family decided that death would be a mercy.

"Of course the provision of the will had to be carried out, but no greater case of mistaken kindness could have been possible. It is impossible to administer sufficient chloroform at one time to kill an animal the size of a horse, so dose after dose had to be given, the poor brute slowly and painfully smothering to death.

"Chloroform is all right for cats or dogs, but for larger animals it is a positive cruelty, whereas a pistol, well aimed at the head of any beast, will send it out of life so quickly that it has not time to feel the shot or realize what has happened."—New York Press.

THROWING THE DISCUS.

Methods of the Grecian Athletes In Homeric Times.

Discus throwing was a refined form of hurling the stone. In Homeric times, and even at Olympia, a stone or mass of iron was first used for the purpose. This was held by a leathern thong, swung in a circle and hurled as far as possible. A circular or lenticular disk of bronze was used at least as early as the beginning of the fifth century.

A standard weight must, of course, be assumed for the great games. A discus now in the British museum, which seems to have been used, weighs 11 pounds 9 ounces, but whether this was the standard weight or not is not definitely known.

The thrower took his stand upon a slight elevation of limited circumference, where he could have a secure foothold and was prevented from running. Then, with a swing of the arm and a corresponding movement of the whole body, he hurled the discus as far as possible.

The value of the body movement was recognized by the sculptor Myorn in his famous statue, "The Discobolus," and is understood by the modern athlete when he swings the hammer or even when he makes a drive at golf.

A Lesson In Economy.

The son was about to enter upon the sea of matrimony. The father called him to his side and for the last time gave him a lesson in economy.

"Economy," said the father, "is the source of all wealth, and extravagance is the ruination of genius.

"Now," continued the parent, "a woman can take a piece of straw, trim it, and it will be a ten dollar hat. On the woman's part that is"—

"Genius," the son answered.

"A wealthy man can expend $10,000 a year and live no better than the man that spends only $400. On the wealthy man's part that's"—

"Extravagance."

"Now to the point. A married man can live on one half the money that a single man requires. On the married man's part that's"—

"Compulsory."

Gemelli Rings.

A quaint custom of the long ago was that of breaking a ring for betrothal. Such rings were fashioned for the purpose, being made of two twin circles, and were called gimmal rings, from the word gemelli, meaning twins.

A ring of pure gold she from her finger took,
And just in the middle the same there she broke.
Quoth she, "As a token of love you this take,
And this as a pledge I will keep for your sake."

The gimmal was also a favorite wedding ring for many years.

Really a Vegetarian.

"I hope the Bible I gave you last week," said the missionary, "will teach you something"—

"It has taught me something already," replied the cannibal chief. "I find that I'm really a vegetarian."

"Er—how's that?"

"Why, you know, it says 'all flesh is grass.'"—Philadelphia Press.

A Costly Collection.

"What a lovely collection of odd cups!" exclaimed a guest, peering into the china cabinet. "Did it take you long to get so many?"

"Oh, no!" said the hostess. "Those are samples of the sets we have had in the last two years!"—Detroit Free Press.

A QUEER EXCAVATION.

The "Ear of Dionysius" and Its Peculiar Use.

The most remarkable artificial cavern or excavation ever made was that which has been recorded in history as the "Ear of Dionysius." This queer excavation, which was adjoining the quarries near Syracuse, Sicily, was constructed by the slaves of the monarch by whose name it is known. In reality it was an exact model of a gigantic human ear, 250 feet long by 80 high, and was so scientifically constructed that the interior of the grotto became the finest "whispering gallery" the world has ever known. In a cave adjoining this acoustic wonder the prisoners of the tyrant were kept, and every word they uttered came through an orifice to the "internal ear," where Dionysius passed whole days listening to the plots that were being laid by the enemies of his government. The prisoners were, of course, chained in that portion of the underground dungeon most favorable for reflection of all sounds to the secret chamber. By this admirable system of espionage Dionysius managed to thwart every conspiracy against his government which rose during his thirty-nine years' reign. The "ear," the prison dungeons and even the staples of iron in the floors to which prisoners were chained may still be seen. It is said that the tyrant put to death the architect of the "ear" and the slaves who excavated it in order that its purpose might never be known.

CUNNING OF THE FOX.

Its Skill When Running For Life From the Hounds.

No other still hunter can travel so quietly as a fox, and mighty few men are as crafty as the four legged hunter when it comes to a matter of getting meat. Foxes have been seen in England slipping from bush to bush, crawling and creeping after a feeding hare, for all the world like a man stalking a deer. The fox cannot catch a rabbit in a fair chase, but its food is mostly rabbits in spite of their fleetness. But at no time does it display its skill so well as when running for life with a pack of hounds on its trail.

Olaus Magnus, archbishop of Upsala, wrote a book called "Historia de Gentibus Septentrionalibus," of which an English translation exists. This book tells of a fox that leaped from back to back of a herd of goats. As the dogs could not follow, the fox escaped.

A curious trick of English foxes is to jump as high as possible, grasping a tree branch with their teeth, hold on till the hounds have gone on and then, dropping to the ground, escape. This is similar to the trick of the American fox which jumps into a tree and rests on a branch, but American dogs are not such fools as English dogs. They gather around the tree and howl till the hunter comes.

The Tumbleweed.

Tumbleweeds spread themselves in a wholesale fashion. Instead of sending the separate seeds out into the world with wings or hairs to carry them, the whole plant breaks off near the root, when these are ripe, and goes rolling along the ground before the wind. The bare, sun scorched deserts of the great west produce several tumbleweeds, and there are some in the prairie region. It is natural that they should be most abundant where there are no hills or trees to stop them in their course. But we have one tumbleweed in the east—the old witch grass, so called, maybe, because it rides the wind like an old beldame. In September this grass spreads its head or panicle, with hairlike, purple branches, in every sandy field. When the seeds are ripe the plants are blown across the field, often piling up in masses along fences and hedgerows. As might be expected, the hair grass, which has so effective a way of spreading itself, is found throughout the United States from ocean to ocean.

Turned the Tables.

Alexandre Dumas one day found in his mail a letter from a French count suggesting collaboration in the writing of a drama, Dumas to get the pecuniary benefits and the count to share in the glory. The author sent the following answer: "Sir, I am not in the habit of harnessing a horse and an ass to my carriage. I regret, therefore, that I cannot accept your amiable proposition." The count, in his turn, wrote: "Sir, your note refusing to join me in literary work is at hand. Of course you are at perfect liberty to refuse so advantageous an offer, but I forbid your calling me a horse in the future."

A Toothpick Town.

Only one characteristic distinguishes the little village of Strong, Me., from the thousands of others that are scattered all over New England. That is the peculiar industry which serves to support the entire community. Strong is famous for nothing but toothpicks, but it is known in the trade as the place from which come the majority of the toothpicks that are used in the United States.

Courting Worry.

"My wife was rather worried when I left her this morning."

"What was the matter?"

"Well, she had been worrying about something or other yesterday evening, and this morning she couldn't remember what it was."

Food For Reflection Only.

I am in a hideous pickle. Here I've got nothing to eat, and the only thing I've got to pawn are my false teeth, and if I pawn them and buy something to eat, then I can't eat it. I never was in such an awful fix in all my life.—Boston Globe.

BANK ROBBERY IN DAYLIGHT

Two Men in San Francisco Committed Murder to Secure Gold.

CARRIED OFF BAG OF $5,000

Bank Was Run by Japanese and Two of Its Officials Were Brutally Assaulted—One Dead—Robbers Escaped.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

San Francisco, October 3.—Armed with revolvers and pieces of gas pipe, two robbers entered the Japanese bank, Kimmon Ginko, also known as the Golden Gate Bank, at 1,588 O'Farrell street, at noon today, and beat-inf two of the bank officials into insensibility, escaped with $5,000 in gold.

S. Urakata, manager of the bank, who was acting as paying teller of the institution when he was struck down, died this afternoon without having regained consciousness.

The robbers selected a time when there were but few persons transacting business in the bank and the sensational and bold deed was so quickly effected that it was all over before the crowd of people passing the doors of the institution were aware of what had taken place. While one of the hold-ups engaged the paying teller of the bank the other walked to the rear of the bank and going behind the counter picked up a sack containing $5,000. The action of the robber who went to the rear of the bank was witnessed by one of the clerks who immediately raised a cry alarm. The cry had scarcely left his lips before he was struck down by the man who was carrying out the gold.

The robber who had been talking to the paying teller, drew a piece of gas pipe from his pocket and struck him a blow that rendered him unconscious.

Both robbers stopped long enough to beat their victims into unconsciousness and then walked leisurely from the bank and disappeared. The crime was discovered a moment or two later when several customers entered the bank to make deposits. They found the Japanese lying prone on the the floor and immediately gave the alarm.

The police arrived shortly afterward and the two men were taken to the hospital. Despite the fact that the police in every portion of the city are on the lookout for the robbers, not the slightest trace of them has been found.

SHIP SUBSIDY GETS IN A LICK.

Shame to Carry Troops to Cuba in Foreign Ships.

Cleveland, O., October 3.—The merchant Marine League of the United States, through its president, Harvey D. Goulder, of this city, issued a statement today in connection with the Cuban situation and deploring the necessity of the employment of Eupopean steamships for the transportation of troops. The statement says:

"In the midst of prosperity and productiveness unparalleled in history, the United States, strong in every direction, having to transport less than 6,000 troops with the munitions of war to Cuba, after weeks of anticipation and preparation, finds itself obliged to charter a British steamship and a German steamship at the threshold of actual perfomance. This because we have not a merchant marine, and therein the auxiliaries so zealously provided by Great Britain, Germany, France, Japan, and even Spain not one of which would for a moment countenance such a condition. When it is added that the oversea transportation of the United States is among the chief factors of the world's commerce, and the earnings upon which go so largely to enable these other nations to maintain auxiliaries, including naval reserves, can any reason exist why a condition so humiliating and so dangerous should not be removed by prompt and comprehensive action by Congress? The modern policy of the maritime nations of the world, now being urged in Congress, would care for this condition, besides its peaceful trade victories—no less renowned."

DUNCAN TO BE SUSTAINED.

Revenue Department Will Take Steps to Secure His Release.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Commissioner Yerkes of the internal revenue bureau said today relative to the action of the Superior Court of Raleigh, N. C., in committing Internal Revenue Collector E. C. Duncan for contempt in refusing to answer questions relative to applications for United States government liquor licenses, that Mr. Duncan will be sustained by the government in his position and if he is imprisoned, the United States attorney in Raleigh will immediately take steps to secure his release on habeas corpus. Mr. Yerkes added that every decision of the Supreme Court of the United States and all Federal courts uniformly have sustained internal revenue officers in refusing to answer questions of this kind in regard to the business of their offices.

"DIG, DIG, DIG" NOT SO EASY

President Roosevelt's Injunction Can't Be Carried Out on Panama Canal.

GOVERNMENT UP AGAINST IT

Chairman Shonts Comes to Conclusion That Canal Will Have to Be Dug By Contract—Roosevelt's Trip to Zone.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, October 3.—A tentative decision has been reached by Chairman Shonts of the Isthmian Canal Commission that the Panama canal be built by contract. An announcement of the final determination of the canal officials respecting the method of construction is expected in a few days.

The President is anxious that a conclusion be reached on all questions of canal construction as soon as possible so that the actual work of construction may be pressed vigorously.

In this connection it is understood that the President has not abandoned his contemplated trip to Panama and will not unless the Cuban situation or some other question should become acute as to require his presence in Washington. Chairman Shonts expects to be in Panama at the time of the President's visit but it is likely that instead of accompanying the President he will go to Panama in advance to supervise arrangements for his reception.

AMERICANS WILL BE SHOT.

Three Men Murdered Two in Mexico to Get Insurance.

El Paso, Texas, October 3.—A special to the Herald from Chihuahua says the Mexican Supreme Court today handed down a decision affirming the death sentence in the case of Richardson, Harle and Mason, the New York Life Insurance Company swindlers. They will be shot. The men were convicted of murdering two men, Mitchell and Devers, for the insurance. Richardson and Mason were agents and Harle the examining physician for the insurance company at Chihuahua. The men were arrested in El Paso four years ago and extradited after a long fight. Richardson, whose real name is Leslie E. Hulburt, was at one time an attorney in Rochester, N. Y. Mason's real name is Mitchell and he is a brother-in-law of Richardson (Hulburt) and a brother of one of the men murdered at Chihuahua for insurance.

CHICAGO TEAM WINS PENNANT.

Comes Out at Head of American League, Season 1906.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Chicago, October 3.—The chicago Amercan League Baseball Club became the winners of the pennant for the season of 1906 when both games of the double header at St. Louis today, in which the Chicago team was scheduled to play, were called off on account of wet grounds, while Philadelphia and New York split even in two games played at Philadelphia. The Chicago club cannot be overtaken even though they lose the four games yet to be played. The most the New York team can do is to win the remaining three games in which event they will finish second, just one-half game behind the pennant winners. Only one game separates Cleveland and New York for second honors. Cleveland has four games more to play and if they can win all four New York losing one, the Cleveland team will take second honors by half a game.

FOUR KILLED, EIGHT INJURED.

Bad Accident at Maryland Steel Works Near Baltimore.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Baltimore, October 3.—Four men weer killed and eight others injured, two perhaps fatally, in an accident at the works of the Maryland Steel company at Sparrows Point today. Three of the dead are negroes. The victims were overwhelmed by a rush of flaming gas and coke from a hole in one of the blast furnaces caused by the forcing out of its socket of a casting which holds the compressed air pipe. The men had just put in a new air pipe and the blast had been turned on about ten minutes when the accident occurred. The officials of the company, after an investigation declared that no unusual conditions caused the accident. They were at a loss to account for it. No explosion damaged.

HUGHES KNOCKS WM. R HEARST

Independence League Man Hits Back and Calls Him Corporation Lawyer.

BOTH ACCEPT NOMINATIONS

Hughes Says It is Not Fight for Party in New York State But for Decent Government—Hearst's Platform.

By Wire to the Morning Star.

New York, October 3.—With the declaration that the issue in the forthcoming campaign in this State is not to be one of Republican principles or of Democratic principles, or a partisan issue at all, but the vital issue of decent government, Charles E. Hughes, of this city, tonight formally accepted the nomination for governor which was brought to him by a committee from the Republican State convention recently held at Saratoga. The ceremonies of the notification of Mr. Hughes were held at the Republican club in West 40th street. Former Governor Odell and former Governor Frank S. Black were those to congratulate Mr. Hughes upon the conclusion of his speech

Mr. Hughes said in part:

"Highly appreciating the honor you have conferred and realizing only the responsibility to be assumed, I accept the nomination. As a life long Republican, as one loyal to the principles and best traditions of the party, I respond to the unanimous call of the convention. I recognize the exigency which has made us the trustees of the conscience and sober sentiment of the people of the State and has charged us with the duty of leadership in a contest for decent government. To this contest, I commit myself heart and soul without doubt as to the result.

"We enter upon the campaign inspired by the example and fortified by the achievments of our great leader, Theodore Roosevelt. The national administration, with its recorl of established reforms, has strengthened its hold upon the confidence of the people.

"The paramount issue is this campaign, however, are State issues but in the matters which I have mentioned, we find notable record of achievment which presents a striking contrast to the noisy pretensions of the hour.

"Our State Administration has also accomplished many genuine reforms."

Mr. Hughes enumerated the reforms with special reference to the life insurance companies.

"What do we find in opposition to us?" he asked.

"A masquerade. An Independence League, whose independence has been betrayed and a so-called but spurious Democrratic party which has violated every principle of Democratic government.

"If we would know the sort of administration we should have in the event of their success, look at the Buffalo convention; for there you will find their motives and methods mirrored—their motive selfishness, and their method, intrigue.

"We tset the sincerity of their independence by their efforts to procure the Democratic nomination. We test the sincerity of their independence by their efforts to procure the Democrratic nomination. We test the sincerity of their denunciation of bosses by their deals with bosses. We test the sincerity of their appeals to American ideals to their despotic proceedings. We test the sincerity of their attacks upon the use of money in politics by their use of money in politics. We test the sincerity of their devotion to the interest of the people by their efforts to foment disorder and exploit ignorance in the interests of self ambition.

"What then, is the supreme issue o fthis campaign? It is not an issue of the Republican record. It is not an issue of Republican principles or of Democratic principles. It is not a partisan issue at all. It is the vital issue of decent government. The question is whether the unholy alliance that succeeded at Buffalo shall capture the State of New York.

"In my message to the convention I stated that if elected it would be my ambition to give the State a sane, efficient and honorable administration, free from taint of bossism or of servitude to any private interest. This is my position in a nut shell."

Hearst Hits Hughes.

New York, October 3.—The Independence League, which nominated William R. Hearst for governor, today received from Mr. Hearst his letter accepting the nomination. In his letter he said:

"I accept with gratitude and with deep feeling of responsibility the nomination of the Independence League.

"The great problem of the hour, the problem that the people must solve with their ballots and in legislation, is to do away with corporation control of the gvernment. That control is now practically absolute. It rests mainly upon our system of partisan politics, directed by boss rule and subject to trust ownership.

"I accept your nomination with the full knowledge that the Independence League and its candidate for governor are pledged in honor of the extermination of bosses by putting into operation throughont our State the system of direct nominations and open primaries.

"The League has so aroused the people upon the fundamental issues of government by trusts or by citizens that already they have called forth Democratic action by the masses of the Democratic party. Because of the hand held out by the Democratic party, independent citizenship in this State will have at the coming election a chance to count every vote cast against corporation control.

"You see a corporation lawyer put forward as the standard bearer of the Republican party in this campaign. You see corporation lawyers and violent partisans of monopolies held up to you as the only men fit to select your judges.

"The people know their enemies are the originators and managers of opressive trusts. They know that these trusts are in control in the machine of the Republican party in this State. They see Mr. Sheldon chosen as treasurer to raise and spend the money for Mr. Hughes, the corporation attorney. And when they realize that Mr. Sheldon, directoir in twenty-one corporations, notoriously connected with the collapse in the shipbuilding trust, is the financial reliance of the ticket which Mr. Hughes heads, they cannot look upon that ticket as promising much for the prosperity of the mass of the people.

"In regard to the violations of financial trust and the uneasiness repeatedly caused by revelations of dishonesty in banks, trust companies, building and loan associations, such as the Merchants Trust Company, the German Bank of Buffalo, and the New York Building and Loan Association, there is no question that the public welfare demands drastic action.

"I propose, if elected to exercise fearlessly with due regard for the principal of home rule, the power of removal given by the people to the governor. I propose to end control by the corporations, not only in the State departments but in county offices charged with the responsibility of enforcing the original laws of the State.

"An honest election law, an efficient corrupt practices Act, and especially a measure that will make it possible to have a judicial review of an election upon proof of fraud or mistake, must be enacted as part of that campaign against corporation domination upon which the people have entered so enthusiastically.

"I shall continue to work for the enactemnt of a statute empowering cities to acquire and operate all public utilities at their option.

"Railroad rates must be reduced and New York must be placed in line with other pregressive States that are enforcing a maximum rate of two cents a mile to every railroad not specially chartered to exact a greater charge."
